

This reference is maintained as a hard copy in the NRCS field office. It is not available in an electronic format, on-line or in any format other than a hard copy. Depending on the original source of the reference, copies of it may be available. If it is an NRCS publication that is still in print, copies may be available from the NRCS field office or NRCS state office. References produced by another government agency may be available from that agency and that agency should be contacted for information on ordering those references. If it is not a government publication, it may be available from bookstores, on-line book services or other commercial sources.