The National Conservation Desktop Initiative will result in changes to resource concerns and their documentation during the conservation planning process. Several resource concerns have been combined. Checklists are available to document the existence of resource concerns. Fact sheets are available that describe each resource concern, new resource concerns, checklists, and fact sheets have been added to Section III of the West Virginia FOTG. Earlier versions of resource concern information and guidance documents have been removed.

These resource concerns will be utilized for conservation planning and program implementation beginning October 1, 2013.

If you have any questions or concerns please contact Patrick Bowen, State Resource Conservationist, at (304) 284-7579.
